

Quarantine Project

The Contents Team would like to help you pass the time while you are quarantined. We all need to have insurance on our homes and we all have accumulated a lot of "stuff" over our lifetime. Some of us accumulate more than others, which is the category I personally relate to. In order to have the proper insurance coverage you need to provide your insurance agent with as much information as possible about your property, real and personal. Real property is typically real estate, structures, etc. Personal property are the items we purchase and place into real property but are NOT physically attached to the real property.

What is the project? The project is to collect as much information about your real property and personal property. Take pictures, make notes, and store the information digitally in a safe place. Provide this information to your insurance agent during your renewal period.

Attached is a personal property guide and form, which can be duplicated as needed. This is a basic guide for you to follow.

I hope this helps pass the time now. More importantly, I hope it helps you in the future if you have a major claim.

I pray you and your family stay safe and healthy through this COVID-19 crisis and for many years to come. God Bless You.

Sincerely,
Tim Shackelford,
